

Veterinarians & All Staff Welcome

Veterinary Health Care Team of Arizona Present... Valley Fever Cases & Solutions

Speaker: Lisa Shubitz, DVM

INTERACTIVE & CASE BASED PRESENTATION

Lisa F. Shubitz, DVM attended the University of Arizona as an undergraduate and spent those years working in parasitology research prior to attending veterinary school. Dr. Shubitz received her DVM from Colorado State University in 1991 and worked in a private practice in Prescott, AZ for 18 months following graduation. In 1993, she returned to the University of Arizona and continued in parasitology research while working in a practice part time and weekends. In 1996, an opportunity arose with the Valley Fever Center for Excellence and she began work on the Valley Fever Vaccine Project. The goal of this project is to commercialize both human and veterinary preventive vaccines. From her research and practice experience Dr. Shubitz has gathered information on symptoms, diagnosis and treatment of valley fever in pets through literature search, talking with other veterinarians and human valley fever specialists, treating patients, and some original research. Dr. Shubitz hopes to continue to perform clinically relevant research for animals, consult on cases as needed and disseminate information about valley fever.
